

Professor Chris RIZOS

Chris Rizos is currently Head of the School of Surveying & Spatial Information Systems at the University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia. Chris has been researching the technology and applications of GPS since 1985, and established over a decade ago the Satellite Navigation and Positioning group at UNSW, today the largest academic GPS/GNSS and wireless location technology research laboratory in Australia.

Chris is the Vice President of the International Association of Geodesy (IAG), and a member of the Executive and Governing Board of the International GNSS Service (IGS). Chris is currently Chair of the working group developing the strategic plan for GNSS for Australia. Chris is also an Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Applied Geodesy, an Associate Editor of the Journal of Location Based Services, and a member of the editorial boards for five other navigation/GPS/GNSS journals and magazines. He is an author/co-author of over 500 journal or conference papers.